

SACC Can Help Your Business

SA Career Consultants (SACC) know how important it is to minimise your expenses and recruitment can be one area that needs a lot of time - and time is money!

David Bandini, Manager of Avanti Pasticceria has recognised the value of seeking workers from SACC and has been doing so for over 2 years. David calls SACC as soon as he has a vacancy and utilises SACC's free job matching services.

David Bandini – Manager Avanti Pasticceria

Here's how our free service works:

- A SACC Marketing Consultant creates a job description with the help of the Employer
- SACC selects suitable applicants
- Employer chooses who they would like to interview or offer un-paid work trials to (SACC cover the insurance for the work trial)
- If required, a SACC Job Co-ordinator attends the worksite to help job seeker/s learn and master the tasks
- Employer selects the successful applicant/s and SACC provide ongoing service for as long as required.

Employers of SACC Jobseekers may also be eligible for financial incentives!

By using SACC, it means money saved in advertising and time saved receiving and collating resumes, interviewing etc.

We have over 500 job seekers from the ages of 15 – 65 all with different skills and abilities. Not all disabilities require on the job support to make a success, but if you need us we are just a phone call away. All for free!!!

Why consider employing someone with a disability???

- 1 in 5 working age Australians have some form of disability – SACC support you support your staff.
- Staff frequently report increased job satisfaction when a person with a disability joins the team.
- You will be demonstrating a commitment to social justice to both your employees and the wider community.
- The right person for your business may have a disability
- People with disabilities have lower absenteeism – they want to work!

Can you offer an opportunity to one of our jobseekers?
